We had expenses of $5,000.00 to help move and preserve the historic adobe home of Justice Sandra Day O'Connor. This house will be used to solve Arizona issues, "Civil talk leads to civic actions". Public access will be available and it is estimated that two thousand people will use it this year with more to follow.

We had expenses of $350.00 to print a small documentary of the moving of the house and it has been available at the O'Connor House and the Arizona Historical Society Museum to the public.

We had expenses of $2,000.00 to Arizona Citizens for the Arts. (This is a group that furthers artists with their goals in particular as their art relates to our state). Three hundred people attended their event.

We had expenses of $16,691.00 to publish a book about a Hispanic photographic artist, Pedro Guerrero who is a native of Arizona. His photos document Frank Lloyd Wright's historic Taliesin West's early years as well as other artists. This book will be available for researchers in many libraries in Arizona.
